

Thank you to our peer reviewers in 2019

Good and timely peer review is absolutely essential for the success of a journal. Therefore, we are most grateful for the support of those colleagues who have freely given their time and effort to review articles for the Portuguese Journal of Nephrology and Hypertension. This has enabled us to make the right editorial choices, maintain our scientific standards and helped our authors to further improve their work.

At the end of another year, we would like to take an opportunity to openly acknowledge all those reviewers who have contributed to the Journal's success.

The Editors would like to thank the following people for their time, effort and insightful comments as reviewers in 2019.
